PREFACE.

In presenting the first issue of the Belleville City Directory, the Publishers feel they have done something toward satisfying the wants and necessities of the public, and rendering the work a fit representative of the business and enterprise of the City.

For the very general and liberal support the undertaking has received from the advertisers, the publishers return their thanks, and for any imperfections or omissions which may appear, they ask the indulgence of a generous public, trusting that their next issue will be more complete in all its details.

In conclusion, the book is presented to the inhabitants of Belleville, with the hope that it will meet with the satisfaction and approval which it has been the earnest endeavors of the Publishers to achieve.

Erid. Moehlmann,
MANUFACTURER OF

THRESHING MACHINES

AND MÖEHLMANN'S PATENT FEED DRILL,

SECOND NORTH ST., BET. ILLINOIS AND SPRING, BELLEVILLE, ILL.

I AM NOW PREPARED TO BUILD

Threshers, Separators and Cleaners of Ralston's Patent,

At the Shortest Notice and upon the Most Reasonable Terms.

THRESHING MACHINES.

(SEE PRECEDING PAGE.)

At the Agricultural Fairs in the States of Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee, the First Premiums were awarded to Ralston's Cleaner, and it was so highly recommended by Agricultural and Scientific Journals, that I concluded to introduce this Machine to the farmers of Illinois, and to make them acquainted with its many merits. For this purpose I obtained from the Patentee the Right, and constructed a few of these Machines, and sold them to farmers in this neighborhood, and I am happy to say, that the Machine has fully sustained its fair reputation, and has even surpassed the expectations of the manufacturer. The farmers to whom these machines were sold, and all others who witnessed their performance, are highly pleased with them. In every instance they have given unqualified and unlimited satisfaction.

These Machines are so simple in their construction and operation, that any person, in a few minutes, can learn to manage them. The belts are easily tightened or loosened, as circumstances may require. This Machine will thresh as much or more grain than any similar Machine, and clean it better, as it has two Fans and two sets of Riddles to do the cleaning, while others have but one Fan.

Encouraged by the favorable results, I have made ample preparations to build any desired number of these Machines, with either four or eight horse powers. Those with eight horse powers will thresh, with corresponding force of hands, from three hundred to four hundred bushels of wheat per day; the smaller ones, from one hundred and fifty to two hundred bushels.

Farmers are invited to give me a call, or send in their orders early; they will find it to their advantage to do so, as they will thereby secure a superior article, and save the expense and delay of importing from some distant place.
